ceramic tableware set collection

A tribute to Sicily and to my love of ceramics.

One sunny day in August, while sitting in the shade of a Kamarina tree, I decided, after 25 years, to go back to my old paint brushes. I wanted to convey the beauty of what surrounded me in that moment and interpret it through the eyes of a child.

This is how the botanical aquarellas came to me.

Naturally the collection of decorative dishes, declined in 14 subjects, was named "Sicily".

The collection, inspired by the '60s, is entirely made in Italy by local craftsmen in white ceramic. The set includes round plates (Ø 21 cm - Ø 26 cm), elliptical plate (57x27 cm), rectangular plates (41x34 cm), round bowls (Ø 14 cm - Ø 35 cm), pitchers (Ø 12 cm - H 20 cm) and vases.

Due to the handcrafted nature of this product, small variations in colour, size and shape may occur. Not suitable for dishwasher and microwave ovens.

Benedetto Fasciana

Architect based in Milan, interested in Mediterranean botanics, studied ceramics in Sicily.
